

GENERAL HARRY C. TREXLER COLLECTION FINDING AID

The General Harry C. Trexler Collection Finding Aid provides an overview of our collection of materials related to General Harry C. Trexler (April 17, 1854-November 17, 1933). Born in Easton, Pennsylvania, he was an American industrialist, conservationist, and major philanthropist. In 1885, Trexler married Mary M. Mosser. They were married for 48 years, until his death in 1933 from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. Mary died one year later. They had no children. Through a charitable trust Trexler established in his Will, his wealth continues to provide a major benefit to the people and community of Lehigh County, Pennsylvania.

Our collection of Trexler materials described in the Finding Aid includes ledgers, land records, maps, scrapbooks, photographs, and ephemera related to Trexler's life and the legacy he left behind. Our Finding Aid is designed to guide "in-house" research. This collection is not digitized for off-site viewing or research. Questions should be directed to Jill Youngken, Director of the archives at 610-435-1074 or j_youngken@lehighvalleyheritagemuseum.org

Thank you for your interest in the life of General Harry C. Trexler.

- Sepia, 13" x 9.5" print with mat, (2 identical photos), 1916
- Note: Harry C. Trexler is shown in full military uniform on horse.
- The note on one of two photos reads: "1916-Mexican Border Service-General Trexler-age 62," but Harry C. Trexler did not receive the rank of Brigadier General until 1918.
- The second photo: Mt. Gretna-June 1916. Note on the back: "General Harry C. Trexler as Quartermaster General, Pa. N.G. 1916," but Harry C. Trexler did not receive the rank of Brigadier General until 1918.

General Harry C. Trexler on Horseback with other Military Personnel

- B/W, 7.5” x 9” prints (2 identical photos), no date
- Note: This photograph depicts a line-up of military personnel including General Harry C. Trexler who are probably lining up for a parade in Allentown. Notes on the back of the second identical photograph indicate that it was the Liberty Bond Parade, in Allentown. General Trexler as Marshall of the Liberty Bond Parade, Allentown. It lists the following individuals in the “line up” as:

Ben. C.T. O’Neill

Gen. Trexler

Gen. Frank Biery

Col. E. M. Young

Col. Charles Hendler (Philad.)

Col. Renninger

Maj. E. H. Dickenschied

Leonard Sefing

Serg. Leo Luttringer (Harrisburg)

General Harry C. Trexler on Horseback during Allentown Parade

- B/W, 7.5 x 9.5” print, 1919
- Note: General Harry C. Trexler is on white horse with other military personnel during a parade down Hamilton St. Note on back of photograph reads: Victory Parade, 1917, Dedication of First Defenders Monument West Park. However, the Victory Parade did not occur in 1917, as the United States did not enter WWI until April 6, 1917. WWI armistice was signed on November 11, 1918. This photo was probably taken during the Victory Parade in June 1919. Note that men are wearing ribbons on their uniforms in both the “line-up” photo and the parade photo.
